REORGANIZATION
PLAN ANNOUNCED
BY GOV. DAVIS

Nine Departments Will Operate State Government Under Plan.

Each Department Will Have Director In Charge Named By Davis.

Columbus, Feb. 24.—The administration bill providing for reorganization of state departments, an outline of which was made public yesterday, will be ready for introduction in the legislature early next week before recess is taken over the presidential inauguration. The bill now is practically ready for introduction, it is said.

As outlined in a statement issued by Governor Davis and the joint reorganization committee of the legislature, present departments, boards and commissions will be merged into nine departments, finance, commerce, public works, agriculture, health, industrial relations, examinations, education and public welfare. Boards and departments having similar duties are merged under the appropriate department.

Over each of the nine departments is to be a director, appointed by the governor whose term of office shall be co-extensive with that of the chief executive. He will be subject to removal by the governor at will. Each director may appoint subject to the governor's approval, advisory boards, but with no authority of administrative character.

Each division is to have two or more departments, presided over by a chief appointed by the director and removable at the pleasure of the governor. Each director may have an assistant assigned to specific duties. The number of divisions within a department is to be kept to the minimum.

Salaries of heads of proposed departments and chiefs of divisions are not mentioned in the bill.

Duties now devolving upon elective officers, secretary of state, attorney general, auditor and treasurer, are not to be interested with except in a few instances, where some activity is given to some one of the new departments as an activity one of the present departments is added.

The state tax commission, public utilities commission and the industrial commission are to remain as constituted but will exercise only their quasi-judicial functions, their administrative functions being transferred to one or another of the proposed new departments.

The department of finance would handle all budgetary matters and assume the administrative features of the tax commission.

The commerce department would be made up of the present departments, insurance, fire marshal, banks, buildings and loan associations and oil inspection. It also would handle the administrative features of the public utilities commission.

The public works department would be formed by a merging of the present duties of that department with that of the state highway department, state architect and engineer, waterways and parks, purchase and printing. The state building commission would be abolished.

The agriculture department would exercise all the duties of the present board of agriculture and the secretary of agriculture, state fair, fish and game, foods and dairies, livestock industry, animal husbandry and weights and measures.

The health department would exercise the duties of the present department and its director and in addition take over the work of the vital statistics department now under the secretary of state.

The industrial relations department would take over the administrative work of the industrial commission, mines, factory and boiler inspection, employment and labor statistics.

The department of education will handle the duties of the present superintendent of public instruction with enlarged duties. He would make a director of all the state universities as well as other functions. The duties of the state geologist would be transferred to him.

The public welfare department would take over the board of administration and the board of clemency.

The state securities department would be transferred to the secretary of state, excepting the chattel loan division which would go to the department of commerce.

The department of soldier claims would be abolished, work being transferred to the adjutant general. The agricultural experiment station also be placed under control of Ohio State University.

PREPARES PLAN FOR TAXATION

Governors Special Committee Will Draw Up Recommendation to Solve Tax Problem.

Columbus, Feb. 24.—Following a public hearing last night on the general subject of taxation, members of Governor Davis' special taxation committee today began formulating recommendations which it expects to make to the governor early next week looking to a permanent solution of the taxation problem.

No indication was given at the meeting last night as to what the committee intends recommending. Dr. W. O. Thompson, speaking for the governor's committee said the members of this committee had not themselves agreed on what the report would be.

Representative Harry D. Silver, author of the resolution proposing a constitutional amendment to abolish the uniform rule, which the governor and his special committee are said to favor, defended his proposal and declared that it was a classification proposal as charged.

Silver said this plan, if the resolutions were adopted, was to provide by law for a general income tax to raise revenues to support the government. His resolution, if adopted by the people would limit the tax on real estate to one and one-half per cent. He said an income tax was not workable under the uniform rule.

L. D. Johnson and M. E. Threlkell of Columbus and P. F. Greene of Delaware and others attacked the Silver proposal, characterizing it as a scheme of the classificationists.

AMERICA HASN'T AGREED TO JAP
MANDATE IN YAP

Note Is Taken Up By Supreme Council of League.

U. S. Will Insist on Voice in Disposing of Germany's Island Possessions.

Paris, Feb. 24.—The United States government in its note to the council of the League of Nations on the question of mandates claims an equal concern and interest with the other principal allied and associated powers in the overseas possessions of Germany and in their disposition.

This was shown today when the note sent by the American state department and laid before the council of the League of Nations yesterday was made public. The council again took up the note this morning, considering it with particular reference to this claim advanced by the United States. Some of the other members held that America had forfeited such right by withdrawing, as an associated power, from the supreme council. In the summary of the note, which was made public Wednesday, it was revealed that the United States declared it had never given its consent that the Island of Yap, an important link in the chain of communications in the Pacific, be included in the territories subjected to the mandate of Japan.

The principal feature of the note, in addition to the points contained in the summary, was the American contention of equal right and interest in disposing of Germany's overseas possessions. As one of the principal allied and associated powers, the United States has equal concern and inseparable interest with the other principal allies and associated powers in the overseas possessions of Germany and consequently an equal voice in their disposition, which it is especially submitting cannot be undertaken or effected without its consent.

Referring to the attribution of the Island of Yap to Japan the note reads: "While this government never assented to the inclusion of the Island of Yap in the proposed mandate to Japan, it may be pointed out that even if one or more of the other principal allied and associated powers were under misapprehension as to the inclusion of the Island in the reported decision of May 7, 1919, never the less in the notes above mentioned the United States government makes clear its position."

(Presumably the notes referred to are those sent by the United States to Great Britain of June 25 last with the copies submitted to the French and Italian governments. The notes set forth the American position on the responsibility of mandatory powers. The Japanese mandate was approved by the council of the league December 17 in Geneva.)

These notes were addressed to the respective governments above mentioned before an agreement had been reached on the mandatory covering the former German islands in the Pacific. Therefore the position taken by the President on behalf of this government clearly set forth, necessarily had the result of effectively withdrawing any suggestion or implication of assent, mistakenly imputed to this government, long before December 17, 1920, the date of the council's meeting in Geneva.

WILSON TO RIDE WITH HARDING

Long Established Custom Will Be Followed Next Week When New President Takes Office.

Washington, Feb. 24.—President Wilson will follow the long-established custom of riding to the capital with the incoming president on March 4 and plans in the congressional inaugural committee, approved by the president, it was announced today at the White House.

Whether Mr. Wilson will attend the inaugural ceremonies has not yet been made known. Should he do so he probably will ride with Mr. Harding to the White House but if he does not attend he will go direct from the capital to his new home on S street.

Four troops of cavalry numbering 350 officers and men, will escort the president and president-elect to the capital and then accompany Mr. Harding to the White House.

From the White House the procession will move over Pennsylvania avenue to the capital. There the president and probably Mr. Harding will enter the president's room where Mr. Wilson will sign the bills passed in the closing hours of congress.

After the new vice president has taken the oath in the senate chamber and has delivered his inaugural address the guests will proceed to the steps at the east front of the capitol, where Mr. Harding will deliver his inaugural address the new president will depart for the White House.

Mr. Harding will take the oath in a stand 30 feet square which has been erected on the steps. This stand will accommodate only the president-elect, Chief Justice White, the members of the congressional committee and a few others. Other guests will stand during the ceremonies.

Besides marines and cavalry, 500 regulars from Camp Meade, Maryland, will be brought to Washington on the morning of March 4 for guard duty along Pennsylvania avenue.

HARDING WORKS ON PLANS FOR
REORGANIZATION

Changes In Departments Will Be His First Big Task.

Head of Commission to Develop Change Will Be Important.

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 24.—As President-elect Harding completes formation of his cabinet he is giving increasing attention to the first big administrative task he will undertake as president—the reorganization of the executive machinery of the government. Delayed plans have not yet taken form but it is known that Mr. Harding has in mind sweeping changes in many of the government departments and bureaus, and that he expects to enlist the work of reorganization some of the ablest administrators he can find. He is understood to have told some of his advisers that he regards the chairmanship of the reorganization commission as a most virtually on a par with cabinet portfolio.

Congress has already created a committee to work out a plan for simplification of the executive branch with a view to preventing duplication of work and cutting down the government payroll. It is expected that this committee will work in close cooperation with the reorganization agency to be appointed by Mr. Harding, though the latter body will be able to give its undivided attention to the task and to make exacting study of conditions that would be undertaken by members of congress.

Some mention of the reorganization project is expected in Mr. Harding's inaugural address and it is possible that some enabling legislation may be requested of the special session of congress that is to meet in April. The first six months of the new administration will be under way though it may be much longer before definite recommendations can be formulated.

One of the biggest innovations to be proposed will be the establishment of a separate department of public welfare, for which Mr. Harding outlined his plans in a general way during the campaign. He contemplated the transfer to this department of several of the bureaus now working under other departments and in addition there are to be a number of entirely new bureaus to deal with various welfare problems.

A division of industrial research is to be built up, possibly taking over some of the present functions of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, to make a comparative study of prices and industrial conditions throughout the world. It is believed it will be possible on the other hand, to abolish entirely some of the existing sub-divisions of the executive departments or at least to combine them with other agencies now duplicating a large part of their work.

Involved in the task will be many broad questions of permanent policy, such as the proposal to abolish the shipping board and put a different sort of executive body in its place. One suggestion that has been made to the president-elect is that the various government agencies, now dealing with shipping and railway problems be brought together in a new executive department of transportation.

Selecting his cabinet members, Mr. Harding has kept the reorganization plans constantly in mind and from the start of his administration he has insisted that every secretary give fullest co-operation in securing an efficient redistribution of executive functions. He is understood to feel that jealousies among department heads have presented some of the most serious problems to be solved by the members of his official family work rather for the good of the whole government than for the prestige of any one branch of it.

HOOVER PUTS IT UP TO HARDING
AWAITING REPLY

Asks President-Elect If He Can Do More Good In Cabinet.

Must Decide If Its More Important Than Relief Work.

New York, Feb. 24.—Herbert Hoover declared in a statement today that he had left it to President-elect Harding to decide whether he could be of more service as secretary of commerce or as director of European relief.

In a statement dictated to the Associated Press Mr. Hoover said:

"I left it to Mr. Harding to determine whether he considered I can be of more service to the public as secretary of commerce or carrying out the public trust already entrusted to me as a private citizen."

Asked if he would enter the cabinet if his views were met, he said he had not "put it up to Mr. Harding in that way."

"It was not a question of 'take it or leave it' he said."

Other considerations entering into the matter, Mr. Hoover continued, concerned the European relief administration. He declared he had undertaken the expenditure of thirty or forty million dollars in Europe—money contributed by people of America—and he must continue to have general direction over that expenditure.

As the department of commerce stands today," Mr. Hoover said, "it consists largely of a group of scientific bureaus which have only a remote connection with commerce, itself."

He added that if he should accept the position, he saw a way to make changes which would make of it "a real department of commerce."

To complete his trip from the Pacific to the Atlantic, Lieutenant Coney passed over the city on his arrival and dipped down to scrape the landing wheels of his plane on the beach, then swooped up again and went to the landing field. His time is believed to constitute a new record.

With the exception of two hours, the flight from Dallas to Jacksonville was made in darkness.

"Not until I was over Mobile, Alabama, did I see light" Coney said after his arrival. At times, he added, he made a speed of 150 miles an hour, but that the average speed for the trip was approximately 100 miles an hour.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Birdie Mason.

Mrs. Mason was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Cosgrove. She left Newark about 30 years ago. Her death was due to a two months' illness of complications. Mrs. Cosgrove, her mother, died the 26th of last November. Besides her husband she leaves four daughters and two sons all of the home. Her two sisters and one brother are the only survivors in her own immediate family.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning in Uniontown.

FEW JUGOSLAV IMMIGRANTS.
According to recent official statistics, 28,474 Jugoslavs left the United States during the fiscal year, June 30, 1919, to June 30, 1920, and only 1,888 came here from Jugoslavia. Compared with other racial groups in this country, these figures show an unusual excess of emigrants over immigrants. The Jugoslavs who stay here, however, are eager to acquire citizenship. In Cleveland, O., a short time ago, 30 received their final papers in one day.

Dr. John Shvegel, Jugoslavia's newly-appointed commissioner-general of emigration is about to visit America to study the situation and will use the knowledge gained in forming a sound emigration policy for Jugoslavia. Dr. Shvegel has spent many years in America and his wife is a Brooklyn girl.

Our Boys and Girls

It is sad to see mothers who whip their children before they are two years old. Rebellion comes in a child from a sense of personal injury and no matter how faulty his conception may be, he has a moral right to an understanding of the reason for punishment. Submission to a demand, without the consent of the will, is worse than useless so far as the moral effect is concerned.

There is no doubt that the average child begins to comprehend the meaning of mind at a very early age. Still, it is a revolting idea that such a baby should be subjected to such a process of hardening of the sensibilities as results from frequent whippings.

Effective punishment is to have the child suffer the natural consequences of his action. Girls should be treated the same as boys, except perhaps in the form of punishment. The boy is naturally more inclined toward those forms of naughtiness involving actual disobedience or entailing physical results and this is always to be borne in mind.

Winter Health
Colds and coughs are the usual portion of the women who pass through a winter doing all sorts of unwise things. A night cold makes them fair prey for pneumonia, typhoid fever and other forms of serious illnesses, encouraged by a lowered vitality. The wisest change their coats in winter and, so, nature intends that we, in cold climates shall also take care to protect ourselves against the cold.

Maintaining good health and beauty in winter is a question of common sense. We may blame the changeable weather for rough illness, but it stands to reason that if the health is guarded by a safe and sane living conditions, women will be less susceptible to sudden changes of temperature.

Many women object to laying aside their flimsy and frivolous lingerie of summer for the substantial woollens of winter. Just the same weight is worn by them the year round and no matter how freezing or inclement the weather, her body is lightly clad and only the throat and wrist are swaddled in fur. The ideal winter clothing is light in weight and comfortably warm.

The life giving heat of the body must be conserved and this is impossible with silk vests and crepe de chine underwear. A combination suit of wool and silk, or cotton and silk, provides ample warmth for the entire body, especially for the back and chest, where protection is needed for the lungs. Before going out in severe weather, particularly in the strong, crisp winds, it is advisable to thoroughly rub the exposed portions of flesh with alcohol. This will close the pores and makes one less susceptible to the cold.

WHAT MADE THE CHANGE?

Why does Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Make Her a New Woman?

Philadelphia, Pa.—"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had bearing-down pains in my sides, stomach and back so badly that I could hardly stand up. I was white and very thin and nervous, had a poor appetite and only weighed 112 pounds without missing one dose and gave it a fair trial. When I finished the bottle everyone asked me what made the wonderful change in me. I told them about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I recommend it wherever I can. I give you permission to publish this letter to help suffering women as your remedies are a godsend and made a new woman of me."—Mrs. F. A. BAKER, 4749 Butler St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Why will women drag around day after day, suffering from backaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness and "the blues," enduring a miserable existence when they have such evidence as the above that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable remedy for such troubles? For nearly forty years this grand old root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health and strength.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in a systematic way. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now, and then just to keep them fit, healthy and strong.

Remarkable Family.

A woman with six young "hopefuls" in assorted sizes entered the day coach. She selected a double seat and occupied one half herself. The oldest child lay down on the opposite seat and the other five sat on his prostrate body. By and by the conductor appeared, and upon being handed one full fare ticket he sized up the little group and said: "You'll have to pay for some of these children. What is the age of the oldest?" To which the lady answered tartly: "Go on with ye; the oldest one is under two."

Man Cannot Sense Coming Rain.

It is somewhat extraordinary, but man is the only animal that cannot naturally perceive approaching rain. All other animals show uneasiness when rain is coming. At such times dogs get restless, cats sneeze and wash their ears, frogs croak with a loud, harsh noise, owls screech, peacocks scream and ducks and geese are unusually noisy. This is said to be due to the reflexion of their nerves by the damp air, which makes them uneasy.

Polish Melodies.

The Poles have certain singularities from their eastern influence. Their melodic invention is sometimes rather limited, but their tunes are always wonderfully embellished, and they often make use of difficult intervals which would seem to be more suitable for an instrument than for the voice. The effect of these songs is fit and full of interest and in hearing them it is easy to realize that Chopin was a thoroughly "national" composer.

Thackeray and Dickens.

It has often been observed that persons who are greatly for the writings of Dickens seldom are greatly for the writings of Thackeray, while those who are greatly for the writings of Thackeray seldom are greatly for the writings of Dickens. The reason is plain. Dickens deals with the masses, Thackeray with the classes; in the one we find democracy, in the other aristocracy.

How John Dory Got His Spots.

The dory is one of the most marked fish with a highly notable ancestry. He has many peculiarities of form and color, but none more marked than the two vivid red spots on his sides. Tradition says that it was from a dove that St. Peter took the coin with which to pay the tribute, and that the two spots mark the place where he hid the fish between his thumb and finger.

Tearless for the Spartans.

The "tearless battle" was fought 268 B. C. when a force of Abantians and Argives endeavored to cut off a Spartan army under Archidamus III in a narrow defile in Laconia. They were repulsed with heavy loss, and not a single Spartan was killed, whence the engagement came to be called the "tearless battle."—Literary Digest.

A gunshot is never willing to repeat until it reaches to your face. THE NEW EVENTS IN MUSIC

ARTURO TOSCANINI AND LA SCALA ORCHESTRA PLAY CLASSIC SYMPHONY

Other Famous Artists Heard in Tasteful Selections of Music Old and New

Arturo Toscanini, one of the great conductors living or dead, in two Victor Records for March gives the Third Movement and the Finale of Mozart's Symphony in E flat. These two magnificent works arise from the silence like two vast temples rising amid the landscape of the human mind.

With "When Chloris Sleeps" Mme. Galli-Curci issues the first record since her marriage to Mr. Homer Samuels, who composed the song. An odd original theme, rendered with faultless vocalization and a certain individual quaintness of utterance, is handled in musicianly fashion, beautifully rounded, artistically perfect.

Galli-Curci

With "When Chloris Sleeps" Mme. Galli-Curci issues the first record since her marriage to Mr. Homer Samuels, who composed the song. An odd original theme, rendered with faultless vocalization and a certain individual quaintness of utterance, is handled in musicianly fashion, beautifully rounded, artistically perfect.

One of the most pathetic and touching of recent popular songs is sung this month by Henry Burr and the Peerless Quartette. It is "All Over Now." On the opposite side of the Victor Record is a wistful song in which the Peerless Quartette, the choir, and other vocalists join in the celebration of "The Old Days." The quiet, tender melody of the song is a beautiful contrast to the more vigorous and stirring "All Over Now."

De Gogorza Sings Rugged Hunting Song

"John Peel" is a song to stir the blood of any man. Emilio De Gogorza, in this new Victor Record for March, follows the rugged melody of the song with a powerful and stirring voice. The song is a rugged and stirring melody, and the voice of De Gogorza is a powerful and stirring voice.

A live song particularly well suited to Frances Alda's voice, and to her faculty for putting worlds of emotional leave and meaning into a single splendid lyric is "Thoughts of You." It comes forth as if its story were impetuous to burst from the singer's lips and be told at once in living words.

An interesting St. Patrick's Day peep into the vast treasure house of Irish balladry and folk-song, is John McCormack's new Victor Record for March. "The Next Market Day" and "A Ballymore Ballad," two of the best of the Irish ballads, are sung by McCormack with a power and subtlety of this class, and a mastery of the Irish language that is a pleasure to hear.

A Young Man's Fancy, sung by Olive Kline, is in a light whimsical strain, supported by the Dresden Chorus, who stand on an Irish jig in a music box.

Murphy sings "Roses of Memory" on the other side of this Victor Record. Around his tender yet manly voice, a violin weaves a delicate, clinging counter-melody—like the twining of the roses themselves in the consciousness of the singer.

Murphy sings "Roses of Memory" on the other side of this Victor Record. Around his tender yet manly voice, a violin weaves a delicate, clinging counter-melody—like the twining of the roses themselves in the consciousness of the singer.

Two popular love songs by John Steel, "Rose of My Heart" and "When I Looked into Your Wonderful Eyes," are done with fine expression and vocal power and beauty far beyond the ordinary.

"Gems from 'Jimmie'" and "Gems from 'Honey Girl'" make up the delightful March collection of the Victor Light Opera Company.

The medley waltz from "Honeydew," Zimbalist's new musical play, shows how beautiful a popular composition may be when written by a great musician. Both the waltz and the medley are done on the other side of the new Victor Record for March, are remarkable melodies, the themes gliding into one another with the utmost grace and ease.

A lovely sentimental song "Daisy Rose" is just as beautiful and yet more moving in its melody. It is played by the Original Dixieland Jazz Band. Interesting surprises are bells and trombone jizzes where you don't expect them. "Daisy Rose" is a lovely sentimental song, and the Original Dixieland Jazz Band is a lovely sentimental band.

The scarcity of potent American shores this year may prevent a grand and generous old-fashioned celebration of St. Patrick's Day, but there ought to be a good time in honor of the Irish. A medley of Irish jigs on the record by John Kimmel, and one of Irish reels played on the Irish pipes by Patrick J. Flaherty, any one having this new Victor Record can let the ancient water circulating hard in the ancient blood.

Beniamino Gigli Makes Debut with Opera Record

The first Victor Record by this new tenor whose initial American appearance this winter with the Metropolitan Opera Company places him high among the world's great living vocalists. Gigli's first record is a duet with the famous Schola Cantorum of the St. Cecilia Chorus at Rome. He passes easily into the domain of opera, and has already won fame and distinction.

Mrs. Louise Homer sings the lovely and seductive spring song from Saint-Saens' "Samson et Delilah." The music is among the most suave and delightful that ever flowed from the brain of any composer, and is sung with magnificent power and splendid purity and variety of tone.

"Lassie of Mine," a song well calculated to repeat the experiences of the present and past, is Edward Johnson's latest contribution to recorded music. It affords a full opportunity for the splendid, masculine, emotional power with which he seems to infuse every song he gives the public. "Lassie of Mine" brings in a new era of "Annie Laurie" set to strange, moving modern harmonies.

A wonderful eighteenth century air written to be sung by a lover at the grave of his dead beloved is "Nina," played for a Victor Record by Hans Kindler on the violin. The beauty of the melody, the deep, strong tone of the instrument, and the refined reserve of the artist make it a thing to hear and to remember.

Billy Murray and a Victor Records have taken on the B. O. to the banks of the Ohio where Billy is going to marry a country girl.

"Down by the Ohio" is a story in march time with special effects, such as a B. O. whistle and the wail of imaginary offspring. "Marimba" by Billy Murray is about a girl from Ohio who does enough odd things to make this an interesting and amusing song.

Charles Hart and Edna Shaw have a Victor Record of exceptional artistic finish and emotional power. "Annabelle Lee" is not a musical setting of Edgar Allan Poe's poem, but is about an Annabelle who did such the same as Poe's. Some of the touches of harmony are introduced in "Louisiana," which is beautifully and sympathetically sung.

The pleasure of hearing these March Victor Records is not confined to the Victrola owners. Any Victor dealer will be glad to play them for you at any time. You will find in them a wealth of music from the most exquisite classical and opera selections to the latest dances and popular songs.

Give Your Children a Chance

Of course you want your children to have a better chance than you had—every good father does. You want your daughters to marry well and you want your sons to have enough capital and sufficient education to begin their farming careers almost at the point you have reached after years of toil.

Many a farmer has found in pure-breds the solution for the two outstanding problems—how to keep the children contented with farm life, and how to start them out so that they are bound to achieve success.

One Ohio farmer's plan is typical. When his eldest son was 12 years old he went to the bank and borrowed $350 to buy a registered bull and two registered heifers. In eight years this investment has grown into a pure-bred herd which has provided schooling for three children, a comfortable home for the family and a permanent, prosperous business for himself and the boys. "I didn't have to beg the youngsters to stay on the farm," the father says. "they got to liking the cattle." Pure-breds do keep the children on the farm; they do make farming a profession worth following.

Doubtless you started with scrubs—maybe you haven't even yet overcome this handicap to success. Let your children start with pure-breds—they deserve it. And let them start, too, with that great service weekly which has contributed so much to the cattle-raising industry—THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN. Just $1.00 buys 52 helpful issues. OHIOANS ARE SAVING MONEY

Sale of Government Securities
First Two Months Double
That a Year Ago.

HARD TIMES A MYTH

Working People Now Putting Money
In Safe Investments Rather Than Speculating With Wildcat Schemes or Spending It Foolishly—Thrifty Propaganda Bearing Fruit.

Columbus, O. —(Special)—Not much evidence of hard times in Ohio. For the first two months of 1921 the sale of government savings securities in the Buckeye state was higher than any month since last May. Ohioans have put away more than $1,000,000 in Uncle Sam's War Savings Stamps so far this year, exceeding by a comfortable margin the record made in the same period of time last year.

"Despite the fact that many men are out of work, more money actually was saved during January and February than the same months last year," according to P. J. Wood, statistician of the savings division, treasury department, Fourth Federal Reserve district. This is accounted for "by reason of the fact that the lesson of thrift, of economy and saving has been driven home in Ohio," according to Don L. Tobin, publicity director for the savings division, treasury department, Fourth Federal Reserve district. "Laborers perhaps are making less, but they are saving more."

Wildcat Schemes Slump.

On the other hand government officials point out that wildcat projects are not being patronized by many investors. The epidemic of speculation in wildcat schemes which was prevalent throughout the last year has been severely scotched and financial conditions are sounder for the liquidation, although many men and women are poorer if not wiser as a result. This money is now going to securities which have the backing of the United States government.

Ohio postmasters during January made a remarkable record in the sale of government savings securities. During 1921 postmasters will sell the $5 War Savings Stamp, $25 treasury savings certificate and the $100 treasury savings certificate. These securities are guaranteed not to decline in price by the government, pay a good rate of interest, are readily redeemable and are registered against loss.

Postoffice Sales.

Following are some of the sales made during January by various postoffices: Cincinnati, $125,000; Columbus, $101,000; Marion, $19,000; Lancaster, $17,600; Cambridge, $17,400; Chillicothe, $16,000; New Albany, $14,000; Fostoria, $5,600; Delaware, $5,600.

SETTLING THE PRICE GERMANY MUST PAY

The picture shows Premier Briand presiding at the Paris conference of allied statesmen recently, called to settle on the amount of the indemnity Germany must pay. Disagreement over France's stand in the conference brought about the recent change in the French cabinet. On being named premier Briand announced that unless he was sent into the conference with the confidence of the French people behind him and unless they agreed to his policies he would resign.

STOMACH TROUBLE AFFECTED HIS HEART

Could hardly breathe. Eats anything now, and does his farm work.

"For years I suffered with indigestion, constipation and accumulation of gas which affected my heart at times so I could hardly get my breath. I lived on raw eggs, toasted bread and hot water, and still suffered. I tried several doctors for three years, but since taking Milk Emulsion I have improved so that I can do my own farm and store work. Can eat almost anything; have gained 10 pounds and everything speaks of how it has helped me."—A. Henley, Rio Vista, Va., R. 1, Box 157.

Indigestion is seldom cured by digestive tablets assisting the stomach digest food that, like physics, pills, etc., make slaves of the stomach. Milk Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores health, natural bowel action, gets away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickens the digestive organs in shape to its minute food. COLLECTING COOK BOOKS
THIS DIRECTOR'S HOBBY
 N. Marion Hopper, who directed "Hold Your Horses," a Goldwyn picture, by Rupert Hughes, starring Tom Moore, which will be seen at the Auditorium Sunday, collected cook books as a hobby. He has a library of these books, some of which are very rare. He picks them up in old book stores and at sales. One of his volumes was printed in Hartford in 1845. It describes dishes made as early as 1700. Another book tells 1,000 ways for cooking eggs.

NOVELTY OF "BLACK IS WHITE" APPEALS
 Generally motion picture stars have little to do with the selection of the stories in which they appear. "Black is White," the picture in which Dorothy Dalton is starring at the Alhambra Friday and Saturday, is a notable exception. This is a Thomas H. Ince production from George Barr McCutcheon's novel.

"Mr. Ince wasn't at all keen for me to do this picture," said Miss Dalton recently. "He realized that it was a wonderful story, and his objections were purely on my account. You see, the heroine is really three distinct persons, each possessing entirely different characteristics. While Mr. Ince was con-and, like all of this vivacious star's reluctances, the pace is rapid and laugh-provoking.

Miss Gish has the role of Janie Wakefield, who marries a handsome young philanthropist, much against the advice of her girl friends. The new bridegroom has a falling for pretty faces.
 After several of his mix-ups with other ladies, Janie leaves him in haste and in tears. But her buoyant spirits do not permit her to mourn long and she soon devises a novel means of curing her husband of his flirtatiousness and of making of him a model spouse.

James Rennie is the leading man.
 "Remodeling Her Husband" marks his debut in pictures, we believe, though he is well known in stage circles. Lillian Gish branches out as a director with this film and does a very excellent job. Downing Clarke, Frank King-don, and Marie Burke are also in the cast. The picture is a Paramount-Artcraft. This feature is seen Thursday.

 results that can be appreciated only by won the enmity of his pals, who double-

"MADAM PEACOCK"

IS MY GREATEST

All of the fascinating personality of Mme Nazimova has found expression in her latest Metro production, "Madame Peacock," when it was completed at the company's West Coast studios.

And the gifted screen star is convinced that her picture version of the play by Rita Weiman, which will be shown today, Friday and Saturday at the Auditorium theater, will rank as her greatest work.

"I never felt more enthusiastic about a production than I do this one," she said after viewing the last foot of film in her own private projection room. "I am sure it will rank with 'Revelation,' which I have felt was my most satisfactory picture thus far. This story simply told itself."

Never before has Mme. Nazimova been provided with a story that gave her greater opportunities for use of her genius than in this production. In the dual role of pampered star who thinks only of her own success, then as the gifted but inexperienced actress who rises to unperpet heights almost against her own will, she makes full use of her regal beauty and her ability to

Poisoned by Uric Acid

It was the discovery by Sir Arthur Garrod, in 1848, that the blood of gouty patients contained uric acid in an excessively large amount. Later scientific men learned that in gout, (also true in rheumatism,) the kidneys do not work properly to throw off the uric acid poison; consequently uric acid crystals are deposited in and about the joints, where an inflammation is set up in the nearby tissues. When for any reason the circulation is sluggish, as in the joints of the toes, crystals formed from uric acid are deposited there, and one suffers from gout; or, when deposited in the tissues or muscles, one suffers from backache, muscular rheumatism or articular rheumatism. To counteract the uric acid and to throw it out of system take tablets of An-uric (anti-uric acid), three times a day.

 Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. Send him 10c.

TWO-SWORD MEN OF JAPAN

With Their Disbanding, Comparatively Few Years Ago, the Secret of Blademaking Disappeared.

As late as 1898 there were some 400,000 two-sword men in Japan, highly trained fighters attached to the nobles of the land in bands ranging from two or three to an entire army. When the revolution came the work of the two-sword men was done, the nation was made into a solid unit and the strength of the blade carriers was needed at plow and bench.

With this disbanding, an exchange explains, the trade of the swordmaker was also lost to the vast number following it, and with them, as the years passed, died the secrets of the warrior tools. Swords can be obtained in Japan today whose blades are so keen they can cut through a veil or a sofa cushion, and also can be driven through a bar of iron, provided the wielder has the strength. Others have blades covered with a beautiful and intricate tracery that disappears and reappears at odd times, and no one can solve the "why" of it. One moment the blade is as smooth and unmarked as a mirror and the next the design leaps out before the eye of the startled beholder and can even be felt by sensitive fingers. Yet other blades are colored red,

PERRY CO. FARMER GAINED 20 POUNDS

His wife says Dreco has helped him in many ways by stopping dizzy spells, eased his stomach, relieved constipation.

The enthusiastic statements of well known and reliable citizens right here in this city and vicinity as to how they have found relief from their troubles, should certainly convince anyone that Dreco is an honest medicine full of merit. Every word they speak comes from the bottom of their hearts, hoping to lead someone else to the same relief.

"My husband has been helped in many ways by taking Dreco and both of us never miss a chance to tell of its good work," declared Mrs. Catherine Huff, of Glenford, Perry Co., Ohio.

"He is sixty six years old and has been suffering from pains in his back, aching joints and sore muscles. His liver was sluggish which gave him dizzy spells and headaches, his bowels were constipated and was often filled with gas. He was unable to do any work so that he could not eat a lot of things he wanted.

"Dreco has put him in good condition again and he feels fine once more. He has actually gained twenty pounds in weight. His stomach now digests everything leaving no gas, bowels are active, never gets dizzy and the pains in his back are all gone. Dreco did a lot for him and we are glad to tell about it."

Dreco is being specially introduced by Evans' Cut Rate Drug Store in Newark, Ohio, and sold by all druggists.

FINE FOR RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA AND ALL MUSCULAR SORENESS

The shooting, tearing pains of Neuralgia, Sciatica and Lumbago are speedily relieved, while Headache, Toothache and Parache simply flee. Heavy colds and sore throat, influenza, pneumonia and tonsillitis may be cured in a single night and not only is 20th Century Linctum the relief needed in such cases as this but in practically any painful condition.

There's nothing injurious in 20th Century Linctum. It contains such well known remedies as Camphor, Menthol, Iodine and many other ingredients prescribed by the highest medical authorities in the land. Things that bring soothing relief and real joy to stiff and tired out muscles.

Give yourself a brisk rub with 20th Century Linctum at night for one week and if you don't feel better, younger after following the simple directions, take it back to the druggist's and get your money back.

Step into the nearest drug store or shop on your way home at J. Evans' and get a bottle. If results are what you want make an effort to get it.

Today's Beauty Help

We find you can bring out the beauty of your hair to its very best advantage by washing it with can-throx. It makes a very simple, inexpensive shampoo which cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dandruff, dirt and excess oil, leaving a wonderfully clean, wholesome feeling. After its use, you will find that the hair shines quickly and evenly, is never streaked in appearance and is always bright, soft and fluffy; so fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure.
Just use a teaspoonful of canthrox, which you can get from any good druggist, dissolve it in a cup of hot water; this makes a full cup of shampoo liquid enough so it is easy to apply it to the hair instead of just the top of the head.

First, because oxy-acetylene welding as we do it gives to a piece of metal

MORE ENDORSEMENTS OF CLINIC RECEIVED

Twenty-four letters have been received from organizations in the city and county setting forth reasons why Newark would like and should have the child health institute of the National Child Health Council located in Newark.

The Board of Health and the Red Cross wrote letters of special appeal, and among the others from whom letters have been received are nearly all the schools in the city, Rotary Club, Kiwanis club, Lions club, Board of Education. Five units of the Parent Teachers' Association, four churches in the county, ministerial association, county board of education, three of the leading industries, manufacturers club, Farm Bureau and Red Cross.

The committee will take these letters before the state board of health tomorrow, and further plans will probably depend upon the outcome of the visit.

The selection has narrowed to two states, New York state and Ohio competing, but Ohio is recognized by the national department as having better health laws.

In Ohio the competing towns are Mansfield and Newark, and the former city is making every effort to land the institute. Splendid cooperation is promised by the people of Newark, and a large amount of enthusiasm is being shown in the effort to secure the location for Licking county.

WELSH CHOIR MAKES HIT WITH AUDIENCE

Male voices of quality, well trained and well directed are capable of producing the finest of music. This was demonstrated last night at the concert by the Mountain Ash Welsh Male Choir at the high school auditorium.

For nearly two hours the large audience drank in the splendid music rendered by these capable singers. The appreciation of the audience, frequently manifested by demands for encores, was more specifically shown when it refused to depart when the concluding number was sung, but remained standing and demanded more. Only after the choir sang the Welsh national air, for the benefit of the many persons in the audience of Welsh extraction, did the big assembly consent to leave.

The choir is composed of twelve fine voices. If all the individuals were as capable as the five dozen or more who sang in solos or duets it is not surprising that the chorus work was so pleasing.

The numbers by the chorus included such well known songs as "The Soldiers Chorus," by Council, "Harlech," arranged by the director, Prof. T. Glyndwr Richards, a descriptive chorus "Tyrol" by Thomas and "Comrades in Arms." The director showed his confidence in the ability of his vocalists in attempting the "Tyrol" with only a dozen voices. This is a heavy number, descriptive of a morning in the mountains, the dawn of day, the breaking of a mountain storm, the distant bells and the tolling of the mountain bells. The tolling of the wind in the ice crevices was especially effective.

For solos probably "Thine" sung by Miss Thompson, the first solo "I love no foe" and the beautiful ballad "sing an encore by John Williams were the most enthusiastically received.

An interesting and difficult number was that billed as "Vocal Combat" in which the tenors of the chorus sang "Then You'll Remember Me" while the basses sang "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep." Two wholly different compositions were arranged in a pleasing combination.

Throughout the program, the skill and musical knowledge of the director was apparent in the manner in which his vocalists responded to the least motion of the bit of rolled paper which he used as a baton.

The soloists and chorus alike were well supported by the work of the accompanist, Prof. William Evans. The audience was disappointed when the piano number by Prof. Williams was omitted. It was explained that some of the keys on the piano refused to produce sounds, making it impracticable to attempt a piano number.

The concert was a credit to the Plymouth church men who offered it and the large audience attested to the popularity of a musical program of this class.

PORTO RICO VIEWS ARE SHOWN IN LECTURE

The value of missions was emphasized last night in an illustrated lecture given by Rev. Benjamin Remington Weld at the Second Presbyterian church, the address being one of the "Wednesday nights" adopted by the church for the mid-week service. A supper preceded the lecture.

Rev. Mr. Weld stated that he had spent three months on the island of Porto Rico making a study of the mission work and the possibilities of the field there for missions. He traveled over the island by automobile, train, pony and on foot. He showed views of the island.

My counsel to those who listen to the lecture he said is to go to Porto Rico, behind its marvelous possibilities and yet with all its massed poverty the ignorance of its rural multitudes, the helplessness in the control of industry, their ignorant disregard of the laws of sanitation, their pitiful plagues of sickness, their need of Christian vision and with the New America friend I made in Porto Rico, you will say "This too has made me believe in Missions."

A REGULAR HE-MAN BATTERY SERVICE

THERE once was a motorist who had become so used to the average kind of service and treatment that he just laughed when his friends told him to come to us.

But a couple of days afterward he got in trouble. Stood right up on the old starter and nary a whirl did he get.

So he called us up, saying, "I've had trouble with this d— battery for the last two months; guess there's nothing to it but a new one; how much will it cost?"

But right there we broke in, "Nothing doing! Wait till we see what the trouble is. You may not need a new battery." And sure enough, he didn't. Now we almost had to fight with that fellow to keep from selling him a new battery. But it's not a part of our policy to sell a man a battery when his present one can be made to last several months by a reasonable repair.

The other day this same motorist was telling some friends "where you can get a regular he-man battery service." The address was ours.

Some day when that motorist's battery is worn out we're going to sell him a Philadelphia Diamond Grid Battery, guaranteed two years, and permanently put an end to his battery worries.

ZBYSSKO DEFEATS THREE IN 45 MINUTES

In an exhibition wrestling match last night at the Auditorium, Stanislas Zbyssko easily defeated Elmer Stough of Andover weighing 200 pounds, winning the fall in six minutes, immediately taking on Bill Hutor of Utica, weighing 195, throwing him in 11 1/2 minutes. Paul Bowser was thrown after 28 1/2 minutes of wrestling. Zbyssko weighed 225 pounds.

Walter Hamilton of Columbus was defeated by Vance Wallace after 19 minutes of wrestling. Hamilton was thrown with a scissors and half Nelson in a one fall no limit match.

Johnny Tadmor of Columbus and Billy Gallagher started in to mix things right away. Both men were fast but Gallagher soon had his man worried and after eight minutes of wrestling Gallagher picked his man up and slammed him down for a fall and decision.

ZANESVILLE CANCELS HIGH SCHOOL GAME

The Newark-Zanesville high school basketball game scheduled for Friday evening has been cancelled because of a federal inspection of the local infantry unit at Zanesville. Next week Newark goes to the state tournament at Delaware and the following Friday Zanesville has its last scheduled game with Lancaster so an attempt to have the game played off March 18 will be made.

WELSH CHOR SINGS AT LIONS' CLUB MEETING

The Lions club at its regular weekly luncheon Wednesday had a number of guests including the Welsh choir, which was in the city yesterday. Dr. W. H. Morgan was in charge of the meeting and welcomed the choir at the native Welsh language. The choir director, Mr. Richards, gave a talk and very entertainingly gave some of the choir's history and also much information on the Welsh language and why it is so expressive and so well connected with music. The choir sang a couple of selections.

The women were guests of the club at the meeting and Judge Louis B. Houck was entertained as a guest of honor.

One of the features of the program was the drawing of concert tickets from a hat. The tickets were won by Mrs. Howard Jenkins and Phil Jones.

HARVEY—Why are you surprised that the modern artist, whether architect, painter, sculptor or decorator, should be attracted to the field of motion pictures? It seems to me that only the contrary would be surprising.

The motion picture of today plays the roles belonging to kings and queens of other times. It has already constructed more palaces than Louis XIV. ever had built, therefore it has need of more artists.

One cannot help being attracted to this form of art so modern, this mode of expression so new and striking that already the theater seems vaguely to belong to the past, and this in spite of the advantage of the spoken word and color that the theater has over the motion picture.

PAUL IRIBÉ.
Noted Artist, Now Designing Settings for Paramount Pictures.

I believe, though, that this very absence of the spoken word and color is the reason for the great success of the motion picture. The unspoken dialogue which each of us imagines for himself, the absent colors which we replace by those of our dreams render our imaginations more sensitive, more varied.

It is for us, the artists, to make this dream as beautiful and real as possible, and in doing so we realize our own dreams. And through this marvelous medium what greater influence can the modern artist have; what better means of expressing a new thought or a new form?

I see the day approaching when everything that is new will be shown to the public by the motion picture, whether it be architecture, interior decoration or fashion, and because it can show one hundred million people that which in other times it was difficult to show to a few, the role of the artist in modern society instead of being limited, will, on the contrary, become more important than ever.

FINDS AUTO TIRE.

Editor of the Advocate—I live on the Granville and Mt. Vernon road, about 40 rods north of Brandon. Last fall a man driving a heavy run-about passed our home. As he was driving, a tire fell in six minutes, immediately taking on Bill Hutor of Utica, weighing 195, throwing him in 11 1/2 minutes. Paul Bowser was thrown after 28 1/2 minutes of wrestling. Zbyssko weighed 225 pounds.

Walter Hamilton of Columbus was defeated by Vance Wallace after 19 minutes of wrestling. Hamilton was thrown with a scissors and half Nelson in a one fall no limit match.

Mrs. Ed Bailey, 123 Channel St., Newark, O., writes Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute of New York as follows: "I can truthfully say that the Cascade has done me a wonderful lot of good. But since using the Cascade have never been bothered that way, and I can eat anything. The Cascade is a grand thing in that it helps you to help yourself."

DR. DANIEL G. CAREY, OF ELMIRA, N. Y., EMINENT KIDNEY SPECIALIST, RETIRES

Leaves His Famous Prescription, No. 777, "Marshroot", To The World. Says It Has Helped Thousands. Druggists Told To Guarantee It In Every Instance.

A brilliant physician, a diligent student and, above all, a man of great intellect, he made the study of these diseases his life's work.

During his forty years of constant practice Dr. Daniel G. Carey devoted almost his entire life to the study of this most important branch of medicine and his success as is well known, was almost phenomenal.

If Dr. Carey never did anything else in his long, praiseworthy career but discover Marshroot, his fame would live long after his useful life had ended. Watch the symptoms was Dr. Carey's advice. The unmistakable signs of kidney trouble are a frequent desire to empty the bladder, cold clammy feet and just a little puffiness under the eyes. Occasionally the hands or feet swell slightly and the palms of the hands are moist. Don't neglect them—you cannot afford to take any chances with your kidneys.

Hereafter you can always get this effective prescription at Evans' Cut Rate Drug store and all reliable pharmacists the country over. Keep in mind the name, Dr. Carey's Marshroot Prescription No. 777. No other medicine can take its place.

ARMY PREPARING FOR LIFE.

Previous to the Wilson administration, the army was regarded merely as a fighting machine. Little attention was paid to the effect of the service on the individual soldier. Now, however, the army is being prepared for life. It is no longer a mere fighting machine, but a body of men who are being trained to live. They are being taught to do their duty, to be honest, to be brave, to be loyal, to be patriotic, to be self-sacrificing, to be unselfish, to be generous, to be kind, to be courteous, to be respectful, to be obedient, to be disciplined, to be efficient, to be successful, to be happy, to be content, to be satisfied, to be at peace with themselves and with the world.

Under the present administration, the theory has been not merely to make the army an efficient fighting machine, which has not been overlooked by any means, but to make the experience in the service a useful one for the soldiers. There has now been in operation for about a year, an educational and vocational system which trains them in such useful callings as agriculture, printing, tractor work, etc.

Thus not merely are the men saved from formation of the vicious habits which the idle army life often encouraged, but they are helped on to efficient production and business success after their term of enlistment is finished.

Before this system was introduced, it was difficult to get recruits for the army. Big posters were put up all over the country, and recruiting officers went about everywhere, but the young men would not enlist. Now with this training, the army has become popular, and there is no trouble about getting recruits. The expense of recruiting has been cut down from $90.00 to $42.00 per man.

This is one of the most statesman-like changes that has ever been made by any administration for many years. The Wilson regime will be remembered for a long time as the one that put the army on a new basis and made it a successful training school for life as well as the country's means of defense.

JOYS OF SHOPPING.

When the women read how Mrs. Harding has been busying herself with shopping, in search of the elaborate equipment she will need for her experience in the White House, they felt a thrill of sympathetic interest. Most women would enjoy this chance to buy beautiful things freely, about as much as any other pleasure that the first lady of the land will have, in her varied life.

No man quite realizes the pleasure that the normal woman gets out of shopping. She has an inherited love of fine fabrics, and is trained from girlhood to a discriminating sense of excellence in this kind of products. She feels the same elation in securing a nice piece of merchandise, that a hunter does in capturing a deer or a fisherman in landing a big trout.

The modern producers of textiles and fabrics supply each year in their sense of harmony in color and design. Women who have any artistic idea can't help being fascinated by the beauty of all these works of human skill.

The satisfaction of shopping is not all in the acquirement of costly fabrics. There is also a pleasure in making moderate resources go to their uttermost limit. The woman who, after careful study of advertising and of the material offered, returns with an excellent piece of goods at a moderate price, feels a sense of elation. She has beaten the game of high prices, and she shows her trophy to her friends with a certain pride.

This is a satisfaction that can be had in a city like Newark much better than in great metropolises. Our stores are not under such heavy overhead and operating expense. They can supply all reasonable wants, without having to jack up their prices to pay for keeping a lot of costly superfluous on hand.

The revenue collectors should not be so touched by the losses reported by the income tax payers, that they feel it necessary to supply them with poor relief.

CHILDREN'S SOCIETIES.

In the old days children were supposed to be seen and not heard. American life with its easy ways and too great freedom from restraint, soon set them loose from the period of repression. Then came a time when the buoyant and bubbling activity of the kid element promoted organized campaign of mischief.

Social workers for many years studied plans to take this enthusiasm of youth and direct it into useful channels. The Knights of King Arthur were a typical society that influenced many boys by suggesting noble characters of old as subjects for emulation. Scores of similar organizations have attempted the same end with varying degrees of success.

The Boy Scouts seem to have been more successful than any other society of its type in appealing to boy spirit. In Newark where hundreds of real boys are enrolled. Girl scouts and similar organizations have transformed the lives of many young girls. These movements won out by emphasizing real things, instead of merely stirring up play spirit.

Boys and girls like to feel that they are doing things the older people do. When the boys study the drill of the soldier, and the girls cook over the camp fire they feel older than they really are, and become readier to take up the responsibilities of life.

Boys and girls who hang around the streets in an aimless way will grow up into men and women who do not feel responsible for community movements. Those who at an early age attach themselves to some organization with useful aims, have formed the habit of co-operation that is the basis of all community progress. People here in Newark who want to push their home town ahead, should help on these boy and girl organizations, which are training forces that later will accomplish wonders for community progress.

The man who wakes up Monday morning with a raging headache doesn't feel much like work, but anyway he's on his way back to normalcy.

The workmen who went out on strikes a year ago, are now kicking at the high prices caused by their failure to produce.

As Washington's and Lincoln's birthday did not come in the base ball season, they can't be celebrated in Newark with appropriate exercises.

Some young men's idea of the first step toward business success is to equip themselves with a dress suit and plug hat.

The originator of the Daylight Saving movement, was undoubtedly the barnyard rooster.

There are many more causes for war than there were in 1914, but not so many people want to fight.

LITTLE SONGS OF SAFETY FIRST.

Both love of mankind and respect for their rights are duties; the former, however, is only conditional, the latter an unconditional, purely imperative duty, which he must be perfectly certain not to have transgressed, who would give himself up to the secret emotions arising from benevolence.—Kant.

BORROWED HUSBANDS

By MILDRED K. BARBOUR

XL.—Gauging the Opponent.

When Nancy came down, dressed for her ride in Edith's habit, she found the doctor impatiently pacing the veranda, while a groom held the restive horse at the foot of the steps.

Nancy smiled, a little malicious smile, to herself.

She had dared to keep the "great man" waiting.

Well, it was good for him! And besides, she had the satisfaction of knowing that she was a companion well worth waiting for. Her mirror had proved to her that Edith's well-tailored habit fit her slim figure admirably. The soft hat drawn down over her fluffy coiffure framed a face vivid with youth and audacity.

She drew on her gauntlets and gave the doctor a mock salute.

"At your service! Will I do in my borrowed outfit?"

Langwell looked her over approvingly.

"I should say—rather! It's a revelation seeking a girl in a riding habit whom you've only met formerly in a dinner gown."

"Well, at least you have the satisfaction of learning that her knees aren't crooked," replied Nancy lightly.

"Are we off?"

"I think it's about time we were," he answered significantly.

Nancy swung herself into the saddle with the groom's assistance.

"Spotted man, aren't you?" she said softly, as they cantered down the drive.

"If you mean: Do I object to being called spotted? I do. Remember, in my profession, minutes may mean life and death."

"Surely you're not going to treat me as a patient?"

"Everyone is a potential patient," Nancy made a little grimace.

"Now cheerful person you are! You make me feel as though you expected my appendix to misbehave at any moment."

"If it does, it will only be acting in sympathy with the rest of your make-up," he said with twinkling eyes.

"That was a neat thrust," she acknowledged, but I challenge your statement. I am really the best behaved person. It just happened that you have seen me at my worst."

"As at tea yesterday," he retorted grimly.

Nancy laughed softly.

"Poor dear doctor, did I give him some anxious moments?"

"See here," he said suddenly, turning to look at her, "you don't dare play any pranks on me! What about this Desmond chap? You gave me a wink when I referred to your husband at lunch yesterday."

luncheon yesterday. I've been wanting to ask you what it was all about, but couldn't very well with Edith around."

"Because you didn't want Edith to know that I'd caught you lunching a pretty modest," Nancy added. As to Major Desmond, the question is just that he believes that I am a widow."

The doctor whistled.

"Oh, you needn't look so wise," Nancy cut in. "It's nothing disgraceful at all. The whole beastly situation arose out of a practical joke played on me by some good friends. They thought it was funny to introduce me at a dinner party as a widow just emerging from mourning. It happened that I was the only unmarried woman guest and there wasn't anyone else to play the Major off with. Rotten sense of humor, I call it."

"Still it has its possibilities," said the doctor thoughtfully. "Aren't you afraid Desmond will find out?"

"The thought of it makes my life miserable," confessed Nancy unwisely. "Hail! Then I have a weapon, after all."

"Nancy looked at him sharply.

"You wouldn't stoop to use it?"

"Wouldn't I?" he asked. "My dear girl, I have amazingly few scruples when people interfere with my game."

Nancy considered. It wouldn't be wise to antagonize the man. She knew instinctively that he could be dangerous. Egotism like his was best treated with flattery—not too much, and not too obvious, although she could scarcely credit him with over-sensitiveness. Stead doses of indifference, veiled by flattery, which had the appearance of being spontaneous, would be the proper system for him.

Besides she has always to remember her promise to Edith, if her own inclination toward putting him in his place threatened to get the better of her.

"Do you know that sometimes I am afraid of you?" she said slowly as if making a confession. "Occasionally, I feel just like a specimen on a little glass slide in your laboratory. I think all women are like that to you. You put a few drops of acid on us to test our chemical reactions, and if one acid doesn't affect the desired result, you try another."

His look of complacency proved the accuracy of her shot.

"I say, you do think don't you? It's refreshing to meet a clever young woman among the dullest of Edith's acquaintance."
